FRAUD on the UNDERWRITERS.

From the Boston Chronicle.

To the Editors.

GENTLEMEN,

I transmit you for publication the history of a fraud, lately committed by Robert Pierpont, owner, and Abiel Ruddock Storey, master, of the brig Hannah, on sundry underwriters of this town. It has occasioned considerable speculation amongst our citizens. The interests of commerce require it should be fully known. In delineating the picture, "nothing has been extenuated, nor ought set down in malice." It is a transaction exceeding in infamy, all that has hitherto appeared in the commerce of our country.

AN UNDERWRITER.

On Tuesday, the 8th of March, 1803, before the supreme judicial court sitting in this town, commenced the trial of Robert Pierpont, late owner, and Abiel Ruddock Storey, late master, of the brigantine Hannah, for combining and conspiring together to sink and destroy said vessel, with an intent to cheat and defraud many of our underwriters, to the amount of 30,000 and 500 dols. and afterwards effecting the same.

The case was argued by the honorable James Sullivan, the attorney general, in behalf of the commonwealth, and the honorable Theophilus Parsons, as counsel for the prisoners. It appeared by the evidence of John Southack, who, tho' originally an accomplice, was admitted as a witness that in the month of October, 1801, Pierpont and himself meditated this fraud, that in consequence, he (by the advice of Pierpont) undertook a journey to New York for the purpose of procuring a master who would undertake the business; that he there engaged one by the name of William Harris, who came to Boston to execute the plan. While, however, Southack was on this errand, Pierpont agreed with Storey. On the arrival of Harris, lodgings were procured for him by Pierpont in the upper part of Charlestown, at the house of one James Russell, being also the lodgings of Southack. A few days after, he was made acquainted with Pierpont's arrangements during Southack's absence, and desired to state the compensation which should be made him for his time, trouble and expenses in coming from & returning to New York. Harris at first consented to take one hundred dollars; but as Pierpont and Southack did not readily assent, he increased his demand to two, and afterwards to three hundred dollars, threatening to make a full disclosure of their plans, if not speedily settled with. They had therefore to pay him this last demand, and thus be rid of him. It is not ascertained what has since become of Harris; but it is hoped the merchants and underwriters of New York will be on their guard against his machinations.

The brig Hannah was shortly after purchased by Pierpont, the command given to Storey, and being loaded with a cargo alleged to consist of beef, flour, bacon, fish, butter, candles, soap, shoes, boots, &c. on the 9th of November dropped down into Nantasket Roads, in our outer harbor, where she lay nearly ten days, during which time Pierpont and Storey were employed in effecting insurance at the offices of Messrs. Joseph Taylor and Peter C. Brooks—having obtained 28,000 and 500 dols. on the vessel and cargo, for Pierpont, and 2000 on an adventure and commissions for Storey, making together a sum of 30,000 and 500 dollars; the Hannah left the Roads on the 19th Nov. and proceeded on her pretended voyage, in company with the brigantine Sally, captain Tirrell, having fair and moderate breezes.

George Henry Freeman, the mate, was also admitted an evidence, and swore, that about 8 o'clock of the evening of the second night after the Hannah left Nantasket Roads, captain Storey called him into the cabin, and directing the boy to go up and continue on deck; he shut the cabin door and then told the witness that he had a thing of importance to communicate, but on a promise that in all events he would keep it an inviolable secret, which being promised, Storey observed, "that it was necessary to sink the Hannah, for if she arrived safe into the port the owner and himself would be ruined; he therefore requested of Freeman to assist him in effecting the same;" to this the witness finally assented, on a promise of receiving the sum of 300 dollars; in consequence, about 8 o'clock the next morning, the crew were sent aloft to reef the fore top sail, and while they were thus employed the mate went down into the run through the cabin scuttle, and with a spike gimblet bored a number of holes through the planks.

Shortly after, (as if by accident) the cook was directed by Storey to sound the pump, who discovered that the vessel had three feet water in her hold. The alarm was then given to the crew, that she had sprung a leak, and they were ordered to the pumps; by great exertions they freed her in about an hour. Freeman again bored other holes, making as he said the number of thirty. The leak now increased so much that both pumps could not keep her free, in consequence of which a signal of distress was made to capt. Tirrell, of the Sally, (then in sight) who bore down within hail, when Storey informed him of his situation, requesting of him not to quit, but afford all the assistance in his power. It was rather singular that the Sally had really sprung a leak, and the captain had determined to make the nearest port. Captain Tirrell however sent his boat on board the Hannah, with some hands to assist at the pumps; but as might be expected their efforts proved ineffectual. It was now determined by Storey and the crew to take out such property as could be easily removed, with the cloathing, and then quit her; this was accordingly done about 6 P. M. of the third day after leaving Nantasket Roads. Storey, with a view to deceive captain Tirrell, proposed he should tarry by the Hannah all night, so that if the weather continued moderate an attempt might be made to tow her into port.—He, however, sent Freeman, the mate, back to the brig, ostensibly on pretence of saving other property, but with secret instructions to knock out if possible, the lumber port, so that the business might be speedily accomplished; this the witness effected, but with extreme danger of his life, for when the lumber port fell into the sea, the water rushed in upon him so violently that he had been nigh suffocated. The witness then returned on board the Sally, and in a quarter of an hour the Hannah went down. The Sally arrived at Newport five days after, a protest was made before Mr. Hazard, a notary public, and signed by Storey, Freeman and a seaman in the usual form. Storey wrote to Pierpont, from Newport, informing him of the loss of the Hannah, in a very artful manner, concluding his letter by observing, "that he should take care to have all the papers in due order, so that in case insurance had been effected, he might be able to recover of the underwriters."

Such was the substance of the evidence given at the trial by the accomplices, Southack and Freeman, respecting this villainy. It may now be proper in the narration further to state, that when the demand was made on the underwriters for the loss, objections were raised to paying, on these grounds, first as to the sea worthiness of the vessel; secondly as the real value of the property on board, from the apparent inability of Pierpont readily to command a capital sufficient for such an undertaking. To obviate the first Messrs. Lincoln and Wheelwright, shipwrights of respectability in this town, who repaid the Hannah, previous to her sailing, made oath, that sufficient repairs were made, and in their opinion she was fit to perform the voyage. To the other, original bills of the purchase of the cargo were produced, and Southack swore the invoice was made out by him, at the request of Pierpont, from these bills; and (with the exception of a few shoes, boots and yards of gingham, inadvertently left) was, as to the value and quality, accurate and just. Pierpont further declared he had taken up a considerable sum of money of Mr. Giles Alexander to enable him to prosecute the voyage, and this seemed corroborated by the policies of insurance being assigned Alexander as a collateral security for a debt alleged to be due from Pierpont. With a train of circumstances thus combined and connected, aided by the talents of a gentleman learned in the law, whom Pierpont had engaged to manage and maintain his demands against the underwriters their suspicions were done away and (with the exception of two, namely Mr. Thomas Amory, who had underwritten five thousand, and Mr. Benjamin Bussey, two thousand dollars) a compromise to H. G. Otis, Esq. agent of Pierpont and Alexander, which being acceded to, there was paid him from Mr. Taylor's office, twelve thousand and seventy five dollars, and from Mr. Brook's office, four thousand nine hundred dollars, making together the sum of sixteen thousand, nine hundred and seventy five dollars.

Soon after these adjustments, a letter was received through the medium of the post office, by one of the underwriters in stating that all had not been right respecting the loss of the Hannah; to this an answer was returned in the Gazette, proposing an interview with the writer, with assurances of secrecy and reward on a full disclosure. Indirect information was also received about the same time from New York, stating that a schooner called the Traveller, had been fitted out from that port by Southack, Storey and Pierpont, under suspicious circumstances, and as the vessel had arrived at this place, on pretence of completing her cargo, directions were given to secure a debt contracted at New York by Southack while on this new expedition, by attacking the schooner. The execution of this order, it is conjectured, led to some disagreement between the accomplices, which terminated in a proposition from Southack to have an interview with Messrs. David Green and Peter C. Brooks, to whom a full disclosure of the iniquitous transaction of the loss of the Hannah was made. A plan was then adopted to obtain from Freeman, the mate (who was in Boston) a corroboration of the facts which had been disclosed by Southack; for this end, a person was engaged to sound Freeman, whether he would take charge of a vessel with an intent to sink or otherwise destroy her. This scheme had the desired effect. Freeman assented to the proposition, and soon after made an acknowledgment to this person, of the agency he had in the destruction of the Hannah. After a knowledge of the leading traits of this iniquity from Southack and Freeman, the lesser ones were enquired into and obtained.—

James Russell, at whose house Southack and Harris had boarded, and from whom a bill for a large quantity of bacon, amounting to seventeen hundred and ninety eight dollars had been produced to the underwriters, by Pierpont, was questioned as to the reality of this sale, and being hard pressed, acknowledged that the bill had been made out at the request of Pierpont, although no bacon had been sold by him, and that for this he received a gratuity of eighty dollars. Joseph W. Page declared the bill for articles which he had furnished, has been by Pierpont's request swelled from 25 to 30 per cent. above their real value, and also that some of the articles contained therein had not been delivered, at that time. Other circumstances tended to induce a belief, that the merchandizes said to constitute the cargo, were not of the species which their outward appearances indicated, particularly that of beef; in short this conspiracy and fraud appeared to have been the consequence of a long and systematic plan matured and carried into execution with great adroitness, and as a prelude to others on a more extensive scale, which by this happy discovery have stifled in their embryo.

The defence set up by the counsel for the defendants, rested upon one point; it was insisted that the reputation of a citizen ought not to be impaired by attaching credit to Southack and Freeman, men who had before sworn to facts diametrically opposite to those which they had now testified to the court; that it was evident they had perjured themselves, and therefore setting their evidence aside, there was not that proof which should lead the jury to convict the defendants. To this it was replied, that the many corroborating circumstances which had been adduced on the trial, had thrown such weight into the scale of their testimony, that infamous and perjured as they were, yet with those additional proofs all reasonable doubts of guilt must be removed from the minds of the jury, and lead them to convict the defendants.

The opinion of the court was clear and decided. The jury retired but a few moments before they agreed on their verdict, and on their return declared Pierpont and Storey were both guilty.

On Friday the 18th instant, sentence was pronounced against the prisoners, that they should stand one hour in the pillory in State street, on two several days, be confined in prison for the term of 2 years and pay costs of prosecution.

"The advantages resulting to our country from Insurance contracts are obvious to every man; they give great security to the fortunes of private people as by dividing among many, losses which would ruin an individual, they make them fall light and easy on a whole community; this security advances trade and navigation, because the risk of transportation being thus diminished, men will be more readily induced to engage in an extensive trade, and assist in important undertakings, since a failure in the object will not be attended with those dreadful consequences to them and their families, which must be the case in a country where insurances are unknown. But it is not individuals only that derive advantages from the increase of commerce; the general welfare of the public is also promoted: as soon as a nation displays a commercial spirit and it acquires vigor, we discover a new and an improved genius in its policy, its alliances, its wars, and its negotiations. No nation that cultivated foreign commerce, ever failed to make a distinguished figure on the theatre of the world." Hence then the necessity of checking, by severe and certain punishments, every species of fraud against so useful a class of citizens as underwriters. The legislature of this commonwealth, impressed, no doubt, with these sentiments, have passed a law, the last session, by which the destroying a vessel, with intent to defraud underwriters, has been made a felony, subject to severe punishments. It is to be hoped that the terrors of the law, joined to the abhorrence and indignation which has been so generally awakened against Pierpont, Storey, and their associates, Southack and Freeman, for the villainy just related, will prevent a repetition of similar conduct; a conduct as injurious to the commerce and reputation of our country, as it is disgraceful to the character of a man.

NORFOLK, April 19.

The absence of the Mayor from this Borough, is very sensibly felt, particularly on the Lord's Day. Last Sunday, in Bermuda street there was a riot of Negroes, who were fighting with stones, knives and razors. One negro got cut; and a razor was left at the Herald Office, by a person who took it from one of the rioters. The constables will attend their duty without looking after.

Yesterday came on the election of members of Congress, and members of the State Legislature for the county of Norfolk when Thomas Newton, Esq. was returned for congress the following no opposition. For Delegate pole stood thus:

[Anti Democrat]
The Trelawney, Afflick, of Liverpool, (and bound to that port from Baltimore) came on shore near Ravenslaft, early on Saturday morning. She had arrived off Liverpool, and had taken a pilot on board, who unfortunately ran her upon a sand bank, called Mad wharf; from which, however, after a short time, she came off, but so leaky as to leave no alternative but that of endeavoring to run her on shore. She is a large vessel laden with wheat, flour, cotton, &c. and has fifteen feet water in the hold when she came on shore. The passengers, of whom there were several, were all safely landed in two boats belonging to the ship; but a very melancholy accident ensued. One of the boats returning from the shore with six of the ships crew on board, and Mr.
Middleton of Ravenslaft (who had kindly taken the helm) was overset and all perished except two of the seamen! The excessions of those on shore were such as do honor to human nature.

Captain Afflick had thirty days passage to Holyhead, in lat. 44. long. 45, he passed a vessel which had sunk.

On Thursday morning was brought to this town (Petersburgh) from Person county, North Carolina, one of the most extraordinary objects probably ever seen.
A young man by the name of Howard, 23 years 2 feet 8 inches from head to feet, & about 18 inches high when sitting. He appeared to be sensible, converse with ease, has the countenance of a man of his years, and says he enjoys a remarkable share, of good health. All his limbs have undergone an astonishing change—his legs and thighs are bent and flat; the thin bone of each leg appears broken about the middle and forms an angle—his arms have but very little bone, notwithstanding which he has the use of them; In short his whole frame, apparently has experienced a gradual dissolution, and he appears to have very little bone left in his limbs. His arms, he says, have been broken upwards of thirty times, without having lately experienced any great inconvenience from it. He has been unable to walk since he was three years old.
He says the cause of his lamentable situation is attributed to a quantity of mercury given him for worms, when about a year old.

Petersburg Intelligencer.
The following is the system of divorce in France:—If either the man or woman wishes to be divorced, they must give notice of it to the prefect, and six months time is necessary before it takes place; in the interim, the proper arrangements for the maintenance of the children are made, which are as follow:—The girls are generally consigned to the care of the mother, and the boys to the father; a very minute investigation takes place into the father's or mother's fortune, so that the children are certain of being provided for. If a man is rich, and is the party that sues for the divorce, he must return half of his wife's jointure, and settle a maintenance on her for life.
If a woman sues for the divorce, the wife must return every article of present she has received from her husband, even before marriage. The woman is not compelled, however, to maintain her husband after divorce, but must her children. If the father re-marries, and has heirs by his last marriage, the children by the former marriage have the same claims to the patrimony as the others.

"Common Tobacco.—There is a peculiar mode of employing the leaves of the tobacco in cases of worms, which I cannot avoid mentioning, especially as it has, in many instances, produced very happy effects. The leaves are pounded with vinegar, and applied, in the shape of a poultice, to the region of the stomach, or other part of the abdomen. In consequence of this application, worms are often discharged, after powerful anthel-mintics have been exhibited internally in vain. We ought not to be surprized at this effect of the tobacco, since we know that the same vegetable, applied externally, is often very efficacious in inducing vomiting. Accordingly, I have, for some years, been in the habit of applying tobacco leaves to the region of the stomach of persons who have taken quantities of opium, and other similar articles, with the view to destroy themselves. It is well known that in these cases the stomach is often extremely intractable, insomuch that the most powerful emetics have little effect in routing that organ into action. Here, as an auxiliary at least, the tobacco, used in the manner I have mentioned, is certainly very useful, and, in many instances, ought not to be neglected."

Dr. HAMILTON'S ELIXIR,
A sovereign remedy for Colds, Obsolete Coughs, Asthma, Catarrhs, Sore Throats, and Approaching Consumptions.

To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH.

This discovery is of the first magnitude, as it is an immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorder to which children are liable—the Elixir is so perfectly agreeable and the dose so small, that no difficulty arises in taking it.

From LUTHER MARTIN, Esq. Attorney General of the State of Maryland.

Gentlemen,
I comply with your request in stating my opinion of Hamilton's Elixir. It has been used in my family for two or three years past, with uniform success, whenever colds, coughs, or similar complaints have rendered medicine necessary. I have myself found it an excellent and agreeable remedy for a very painful and troublesome affection of the throat, accompanied with soreness and with obstructed and difficult breathing.

On these accounts I do not hesitate to recommend Hamilton's Elixir, as a valuable medicine, and deserving public attention.

LUTHER MARTIN.
Mr. Abijah Henly, Bridge-Street, Baltimore, was cured by one bottle of Hamilton's Elixir of a very complicated disorder, occasioned by a severe cold caught several months ago. He breathed with the greatest difficulty, and was often thrown into weakening sweats when he attempted to walk any distance, and his voice would frequently fail in such a degree that he could only attempt to whisper; he has been upwards of six weeks without a return of his complaints, and desires to give this public testimony in favour of this invaluable medicine.

Dr. Hamilton's GRAND RESTORATIVE,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine, for the speedy relief and permanent cure of the various complaints which result from dissipated pleasures—juvenile indiscretions—residence in climates unfavourable to the constitution—the immoderate use of tea, frequent intoxication, or any other destructive intemperance—the unskilful or excessive use of mercury—the diseases peculiar to females, at a certain period of life—bad living in, &c. &c.

And is proved by long and extensive experience to be absolutely unparalleled in the cure of Nervous disorders, Violent cramps in the stomach and back, Indigestion, Melancholy, Gout in the stomach, Pains in the limbs, Relaxations, Involuntary emissions, Obsolete gleet, Fluorals, (or whites) Impotency, &c. &c.
In cases of extremity, where the long prevalence and obstinacy of disease has brought on a general impoverishment of the system, excessive debility of the whole frame, and a wasting of the flesh, which no nourishment or cordial could repair a perseverance in the use of this medicine has performed the most astonishing cures.

HAMILTON'S ESSENCE AND EXTRACT OF MUSTARD,

A safe and effectual remedy for gout, rheumatism, palsy, sprains, bruises, pains in the face and neck, &c. And has performed more cures in the above complaints than all the other medicines ever before made public.

From Dr. Weatherburn, Wyth county, Virginia.

Gentlemen,
I purchased at your shop the preparations you call Hamilton's Essence, or Extract of Mustard, which I believe has perfectly removed a chronic rheumatism (of that kind named sciatica, or of the hip joint) under which I had laboured for a long time, and which had baffled every article in the Materia Medica, and every mode of treatment received into practice for the cure of this obstinate disease. If you think this letter useful you are at liberty to make it public.

Yours, &c.
P. WEATHERBURN.
John Hoover, rope-maker, South Second-Street, between Mary and Christian-Streets, Philadelphia, voluntarily maketh oath as follows, namely, that his wife, Mary Hoover, was so severely afflicted with a violent rheumatism, very dangerously situated, the consequence of a severe cold after lying in, as to be confined to her bed for several weeks, and was at length reduced to the melancholy apprehension of remaining a cripple for life, notwithstanding the most respectable medical advice was followed, and every probable remedy attempted; when seeing several cases of cures performed by Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard, they were procured from Mr. Birch, No. 17, South Second-Street. The first application enabled her to walk across the room, and the use of one bottle restored her to her usual state of health and strength.

HAMILTON'S

WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES

Which have within four years past cured upwards of one hundred and twenty thousand persons of both sexes, of every age, and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from worms, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever of similar title, is constantly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary, a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution; contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent, and is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady, or the tenderest infant of a week old, should no worms exist in the body; but will, without pain or griping, cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. They are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions; feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body, are chiefly of four kinds, viz. the Tere or large round worm, the Ascarides, or small maw worm, the Cucurbitina, or short, flat, white worm, and lastly, the Tænia, or tape worm, so called from its resemblance to tape; this is often many yards long, and is full of joints—it is most hurtful, and most difficult to cure.

Among the symptoms attending worms, are disagreeable breath, especially in the morning—Bad and corrupted gums—Itching in the nose and about the feet—Convulsions and epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech—Starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep—Irrregular appetite, sometimes loathing food, and sometimes voracious—Purging, with slimy and fetid stools—Vomiting—Large and hard belly—Pains and sickness at the stomach—Pains in the head and thighs, with lowness of spirits—Slow fever, with small and irregular pulse—A dry cough—Excessive thirst—Sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms, should have immediate recourse to HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent the vomiting and purging of children, a dreadful disorder which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our cities. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

CASES OF CURES.
(Selected from thousands) the authenticity of which any person may ascertain, either by letter or personal application.

TAPE WORM.

Mr. SAMUEL FULLER, Inn-keeper, on the Harford road, ten miles from Baltimore, began about 20 months ago to be grievously afflicted with a tape worm, which increased fast in size and strength, so as to excite the most horrid sensations by its writhing motions and intolerable pains, resembling the gnawing and tearing of his bowels, which deprived him of his necessary sleep, and caused such dreadful apprehensions as cannot be conceived but by one in a similar situation—his appetite wasted rapidly, and with that his strength, so that he was unable to attend to any business—when he heard of some excellent cures performed by Hamilton's worm lozenges, he took a large dose, which brought away about FOUR YARDS of the worm (now in the possession of Lee & Co.)—but a renewal of his pains soon convinced him that this monstrous reptile had recovered its first vigour—Application was made to Lee & Co. for more of their medicine, with their advice—from which resulted the total expulsion of his formidable enemy, in several pieces, which he supposed to be SIX or EIGHT YARDS more. A few months have since elapsed, and Mr. Fuller is now in perfect health. The above facts are well known to a numerous circle of his neighbours, and himself will gratify any who may wish to make further inquiries on the subject. Although Hamilton's worm lozenges produce such powerful effects, when necessary, yet they are perfectly innocent and mild in their operation on the human body, even taken in large doses, as Mr. Fuller will testify—their particular mildness is abundantly evident in innumerable cures of infants.

Communicated by Dr. John Spangler, York-town, Pennsylvania.

Letter from the reverend Mr. JOHN MOTHER, minister of the Moravian church, in York town.

York, January 4th, 1802.

Dear Sir,
Dr. Hamilton's lozenges have been recommended to me as a very adequate means for the cure of children afflicted with worms. I procured a box for the use of my family, to try, whether by means of this medicine, I might be enabled to gain a point, which, to accomplish, different other means had proved abortive. My eldest boy had a very sickly appearance, was very restless at night, grew leaner from time to time; in short, he seemed to be in a precarious state of health, which would yield to none of the medicines administered, until I gave him two doses of lozenges, agreeably to the directions, which carried off a substance to a appearance, which I saw upon close inspection quite repelled with very small living animals—No one of that sort of worms which usually afflicts children, came from him. Since that period he grew remarkably better in health, and though lean, has got a fresh and lively complexion. Upon different occasions I have used this medicine—a purging substitute, and found it to answer exceedingly well, without bringing on belly-ache, or any of those disagreeable sensations, so often occasioned by purging medicines. Upon the whole, I judge this medicine to be, besides its main object, one of the most salutary means for restoring lost appetite, and promoting a proper state of digestion, by carrying off that bilious substance, which engenders so much indisposition both among children and adults.

I am, Sir, your most obedient servant,
JOHN MOTHER.

Fifteen Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY on Saturday, the 5th of this month, a bright Mulatto Man, named STEPHEN; about 28 or 30 years of age: He is about 5 feet 7 or 8 inches high, pleasant countenance, speaks rather slow, but very active and handy at any work; he served an apprenticeship to a weaver, is a good workman at that business, and a remarkable good hand in a brickyard; in short, he is smart at any thing he is set about; he is very fond of spirits of any kind. I cannot describe his dress. He never ran away before, so I expect he has been enticed off by some artful villain; if it be the case, and the man can be apprehended, I will give 50 Dollars in his conviction of the theft.
